

DATA PROTECTION NOTICE

HUNGARIAN NATIONAL COORDINATION CENTRE'S ANNUAL CYBERSECURITY CONFERENCE

Data processing related to the registration for the Hungarian National Coordination Centre's (hereinafter: NCC-HU) Annual Cybersecurity Conference (hereinafter: event) organized by the Special Service for National Security (hereinafter: SSNS), as well as the taking of photographs and the making of video and audio recordings during the event.

The event will take place in a physical format on October 7th, 2025.

The purpose of this information is to inform persons participating in event about the data processing that concerns them. The obligation to provide information is laid down in Article 13 of Regulation (EU) 2016/679 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 27 April 2016 on the protection of natural persons with regard to the processing of personal data and on the free movement of such data, and repealing Directive 95/46/EC (hereinafter: General Data Protection Regulation). NCC-HU staff may take photographs, film and record at the event, which may include images and voices of participants.

The event is open to the press; therefore, members of the press may also take photographs and make recordings. These media outlets are considered independent data controllers, and their data processing activities are not covered by this notice. The recordings made may be published on the websites, in the magazines, and on the social media pages of the NCC-HU and in media outlets.

Data provision is based on legal or contractual obligations, or is a prerequisite for concluding a contract: Data provision is governed by the General Data Protection Regulation

The processed data has been used for automated decision-making or profiling: No.

Use of data processors: No.

Data security measures

The SSNS shall take appropriate technical, IT, physical, and personal security measures to protect the personal data it processes against, among other things, unauthorized access and unauthorized alteration. In the case of paper-based data processing, data carriers are stored in a locked location and are only accessible to persons who are authorized to do so on the basis of their job description. In the case of electronic data processing, only persons competent on the basis of their job description shall have access to the related programs and systems, with logged access rights ensuring unique technical identification.

General rights of data subjects

Within the framework of exercising their rights, data subjects may, through the data protection officer of the body responsible for data processing, exercise the following rights in relation to data processing: Right to information and access

Upon request, the data subject may find out whether their personal data is being processed by the data controller and is entitled to receive information about the purpose, legal basis, duration, recipients and categories of recipients of the personal data processed, the transfer of data to a third country or international organization, the rights of the data subject in relation to data processing, and the possibilities for legal remedy.

The SSNS shall respond to requests for information and access within one month at the latest.

Right to rectification

When requesting the rectification (modification) of data, the data subject must substantiate the accuracy of the data to be modified and also verify that the person requesting the modification of the data is indeed the person entitled to do so. If it is not clear that the data processed is correct or accurate, the SSNS will not correct the data, but will only mark it, i.e. indicate that the data subject has objected to it, but that it may not be incorrect. After confirming the authenticity of the request, the data controller shall correct the inaccurate personal data or supplement the data concerned by the request without undue delay. The data controller shall notify the data subject of the correction or marking.

Right to erasure

In relation to the data processing described in this notice, the data subject may only exercise this right if it is not necessary for the performance of a task carried out in the exercise of public authority vested in the Data Controller.

Right to object

The data subject may object to the data processing if, in his or her opinion, the SSNS does not process his or her personal data in accordance with the purposes specified in this data processing notice. In this case, the SSNS must prove that the processing of personal data is justified by legitimate reasons that take precedence over the rights of the data subject or that are related to the submission, enforcement or protection of legal claims.

The right to restrict (block) data processing is guaranteed in the following circumstances:

The data subject has the right to request that the SSNS block their data if:

- the data subject disputes the accuracy of the personal data;
- the data processing is unlawful, but the data subject requests blocking instead of erasure;
- the SSNS does not need to process the personal data, but the data subject requires them for the establishment, exercise, or defence of legal claims;

The SSNS shall examine the legitimacy of the request for blocking and shall provide information on the outcome within a maximum of one month, but only after establishing the identity of the data subject in order to prevent unauthorized access, using the contact details provided in the request.

If the SSNS considers the request to be justified, the blocking shall remain in place for as long as the reason indicated by the data subject requires. (E.g., for the time necessary to verify the accuracy of personal data, correct any inaccuracies, or, in the event of an objection, determine the priority of the legitimate reasons of the SSNS or the data subject.)

Right to data portability

The data subject shall have the right to obtain the personal data concerning him or her, which he or she has provided to the SSNS, thereby supplementing the right of access and the provision of a copy of the information concerning the data subject. The right to data portability may only be exercised if the data processing is carried out by automated means, using machine tools, which means that the above right of the data subject does not extend to paper-based data processing, for reasons of machine readability and interoperability requirements.

Possibility of enforcing rights related to data processing

If the data subject considers that data processing violates the provisions of the General Data Protection Regulation, or finds the way in which the SSNS processes their personal data objectionable, they should contact the data protection officer (email: adatvedelmitisztviselo@nbsz.gov.hu) with their complaint. All complaints will be investigated.

If, despite the response to your complaint, you still feel aggrieved by the way in which the SSNS processes your data, or if you wish to contact the data protection authority directly, you may file a report with the National Authority for Data Protection and Freedom of Information, whose contact details can be found at <https://www.naih.hu>.

You also have the option of going to court to protect your data, which will be dealt with as a matter of priority. In this case, you can decide whether to file your claim with the court (<https://birosag.hu/torvenyszekek>) of your place of residence (permanent address) or your place of stay (temporary address). You can find the court for your place of residence or place of stay at <https://birosag.hu/birosag-kereso>.
